

Fraudulent Traffic Restriction on Telephone Services, list of countries concerned 22 January 2024.

Dear Customer!

The following table contains the list of countries and number ranges (prefixes) affected by the default restriction introduced to prevent fraudulent traffic (Fraud) in the telephone service, pursuant to clause 5.2.2 of the GTC. When calling a number starting with a restricted prefix, the caller will hear a toll-free information text and the international call will not be successful, thus avoiding an unexpectedly high bill.

The list of restricted countries and prefixes may change based on the Service Provider's traffic analysis. The current list is available at the Customer Service and on the www.invitech.hu/general-terms-and-conditions website.

The restriction may be removed by the Customer by a statement made to the Service Provider's Customer Service.

Change compared with previous situation: Lithuania (370) and Latvia (371) are removed from the affected countries, they can be called without restrictions.

The prefix in the table is the beginning of the number to be dialled after the international dialling code "00", which also contains the country code of the country concerned. Not all number ranges within a country are necessarily affected by the restriction. The prefixes cannot be regulated separately, and the Service Provider will lift the restriction within the time limits specified in the GTC.
